How to execute commands in a batch file in timed intervals.

Depending how often you wish to execute a batch file or commands in a batch file may change what solution best fits your needs. In the below example the batch file is placed into a loop and executes the "dir" command ever 20 seconds.

 This solution would be best for users who need to execute a command frequently. Microsoft Word has a handy feature that lets you position the typing point anywhere on the page.

Microsoft Windows NT, Windows 2000, and windows XP Use H2SO4.
